

Tenth Grade

The phase when everybody else can...
nobody else has to... and your resolute teen will push you to answer, “Why not?”

WELCOME

Anticipate new independence.

Sweet Sixteen means sweet freedom. Whether this is getting a driver's license, using public transportation, or hopping in an Uber, your teenager may no longer depend on you for transportation. This year, you may constantly question just how much is too much freedom.

Expect some fresh skepticism.

With newfound freedom comes greater life experience. That really life-shattering bad thing you warned them about? They know someone who survived it. The standards you held up for them in the past? They may come to realize you haven't always lived by them. So, get ready for them to challenge you on... well, just about everything.

Keep fighting for their heart.

A tenth grader still needs boundaries, but unless the boundaries make sense in light of their personal (and changing) beliefs, they won't stay within them. Just remember, when you "debate" (loudly) boundaries with a tenth grader, stay in the present. They aren't challenging what you both want ten years from now, they just need you to understand what they need right now.

It's just a phase,
so don't miss it.

OVERVIEW

In the Tenth Grade phase, your role is to mobilize their potential.

Your tenth grader feels comfortable navigating the hallways of high school, and they are ready for more. Tenth graders are expanding their life experience. They will push the limits. They might even rebel a little—even though you never did. So guide them to clarify their values carefully. They still need you more than they will say.

High schoolers think like a philosopher.

You help them learn
when you...
ask questions.

High schoolers want to know, “Why should
I believe you?”

You capture their heart
when you...
clarify their values.

High schoolers
are motivated by freedom.

You coach them
when you...
catch them doing
something good.

DISCOVER

Your tenth grader is changing.

Physically	Mentally	Socially	Emotionally
Has difficulty falling asleep before 11pm (it's biological) Needs nine hours of sleep and one hour of exercise per day Girls have likely reached adult height and body development Guys may experience voice changes, weird dreams, and increased acne	Increasingly able to focus, recall, and organize information Keenly aware of global issues and may be critical of the adult world Highly self-aware; may think, "Everybody's watching me" Wired for risk-taking and sensational experiences Tends to be curious, inquisitive, and drawn toward the supernatural	Increased interest in sexual expression; dating may become more "committed" Increased susceptibility to date violence and rape (peaks at 16 years) May experience depression; highest year for teen suicide Desires responsibilities that increase freedom	Feels empowered through choices rather than rules Responds well to specific praise Becoming aware of their personal tendencies and patterns Seeks experiences that create intense feelings and emotions May enjoy sharing ideas with adults who will listen

RHYTHMS & RESPONSES

Authentic Faith

This year you will fuel passion so they will keep pursuing authentic faith and discover a personal mission.

In this phase when your tenth grader is asking, “Why should I believe?” the best thing you can give them is a consistent faith community where they can process their doubts and strengthen their relationship with God. Stay engaged in their personal faith journey by having conversations at home.

Say things like...

Are there ways you would want to serve in our church or community?

How can I pray for you today / this week?

I don't know.

That's a good question. I'm not sure I will ever know the full answer, but I believe..."

Let them know it's ok to talk about hard questions.

Parent Cue Times

Morning Time

Instill purpose by starting the day with encouraging words.

Meal Time

Connect regularly by scheduling time to eat together (even once a week).

Bed Time

Interpret life when they occasionally open up at the end of the day.

Their Time

Strengthen your relationship by adjusting your plans to show up when they need you.

*EVERY PHASE IS A TIMEFRAME IN A
KID OR TEENAGER'S
LIFE WHEN YOU
CAN LEVERAGE DISTINCTIVE OPPORTUNITIES TO INFLUENCE THEIR FUTURE.*

*
You have approximately 156 weeks and
counting...

 PARENT CUE IT'S JUST A PHASE

©2024 The Phase Project, LLC
All rights reserved.

